Dear Msgr. Foley,

I'm always glad to receive your newsway letters. In a way they make me homesick. There's no place like home, I guess.

From the tone of your letters, Subaque must be about normal again, with all the priests, soldiers and sailors back in civilian life again. I can't imagine Texas so large! How can the walls hold the crowd?

Things over here change every day and with each change comes greater confusion, both in the American and the German mind. No one knows what to do, or what he is doing, and nobody cares. If the American taxpayer only knew how his money is being poured down into the sewer, he'd revolt.

Our general plan is good, but it
